

Reno Gazette Journal Granite employees give back to community

STAFF REPORT • SEPTEMBER 23, 2008

Employees of Granite Construction Company, along with friends and family members, gathered Aug. 23 to donate their time and effort to the improvement of the Sparks business district.

Granite Construction hosted its third annual community cleanup along Glendale Avenue between Rock Boulevard and Galletti Way in Sparks.

"I am pleased to announce our employees filled 119 bags of garbage this year," said Rod Cooper, branch manager of Nevada Operations. "Each year, I am more and more impressed with the amount of support this event receives. All of the hard work invested in this cleanup project is extraordinary."

Granite Construction Company is one of the nation's largest diversified heavy civil contractors and construction materials producers, serving public and private sector clients through its offices nationwide.

In the Reno-Sparks area, Granite is located at 1900 Glendale Ave. in Sparks.
